Hello Blessid Fans and Friends!

This has been a busy week for the website. We're still about 23 days out from an official launch with no date yet confirmed and we have a few pre launch registered members visiting daily and some more guest visitors checking in on our progress of the new official Blessid Union Of Souls website.

We now have all of the song lyrics of the first 3 cds online with many music tracks you can listen to with a flash player. There are a number of new music videos in the video player and this week we found a few new artists covering Blessid Union songs. CtrlAltRock covered "Light In Your Eyes" and I Wanna Be There, and Tyler covered "Let Me Be The One" Be sure to check these out in the video player.

There are some pictures in the forum but you must be registered and logged in to view and post in the forum. So far I'm the only one posting pictures but if you have any of you with the band or just the band be sure to post them in there for all BlessidU.com to see.

The shopping cart is online but as of today it just has the 2003 "Play Ball " cd but in a few weeks there will be posters, t-shirts and other cds available.

Have a Happy Easter and I'll write to you next sunday. Go Blessid
